

The spread comes from measurement noise, not from the object

$p = 5, 8$ seeds each. Holding the object fixed and varying only the noise spreads wider ($\sigma = 4.5$) than varying the object with the noise held fixed ($\sigma = 3.3$) — so a median alone would mislead; we report the range and the fraction that converged.